The Laws as to Bonds.

On the 25th of February, 1862, Congress passed the law entitled "An act to authorize the issue of United States notes, and for the redemption thereof, and for the funding the floating debt of the United The fifth section of that law reads as follows:

That all duties on imported goods hall be paid in coin, or in notes payable on domand beretofore authorized to be issued, and by law receivable in payment of public dues, and the coin so paid shall be set apart as a special fund, and shall be applied as follows:

First. To the payment in coin of the interest on the bonds of the United States. Second. To the purchase or payment of our per centem of the entire debt of the United States, to be made within each fiscal year after the lst day of July, 1832, which is to be set sport as a sinking fund, and the interest of which shall in like manner be applied to the purchase or payment of the public deb; as the Secretary of the Treasury shall from time to time direct.-(United States Statutes at Large

On the 18th of March, 1869, Congress passed the law entitled "An act to strengthen the public credit." The following is an extract from it :

But none of said interest-bearing obligation not already due shall be redeemed or paid be fore maturity unless at such time United State notes are convertible into coin at the option of the holder, or unless at such time bonds of th United States bearing a lower rate of interes than the bonds to be redeemed can be sold a per in colo,-(United States Statutes at Large vol. 16, p. 1)

On the 3d of March, 1881, Congress passed the refunding act, the second section o which reads as follows:

That the Secretary of the Treasury may a mny time apply the surplus money in the treat-try not otherwise appropriated, or so much thereof as he may consider proper, to the purobese or redemption of United States bands Provided. That the bonds so purchased or re deemed shall constitute no part of the sinkin fund, but shall be canceled -(United State Statutes at Large, vol. 21, p. 457.) These laws all consist with each other they show one purpose, and that purpose is to psy to the last dollar the debt of the United States. There is not a word in either of them which conflicts with a word in either of the others. They make a harmonious and perfect whole.

On the assembling of Congress last De cember, Mr. Manning, then Secretary of the Treasury, sent his report to Congress. In treating of these bonds and the accumulating surplus he held that the bonds could no be paid before maturity without the consent of the bolder, which for the 41s would be Sept. 1, 1891, and for the 4s July 1; 1907.

On and after those dates respectively, but not until then, those loans are payable, at the option of the United States, at their face, and without premium. The present premium of the 4% per cents, of 1891 is about 11 per cent The present premium on the 4 per cents, of 199 is about 28 per cent. To continue our presensurplus taxation and to employ its processis now or for some years to come in giving to the bondholders any such, or still higher, premiums by anticipatory purchase of those bonds before they are due and payable at par is a fis-cal policy so unnecessary, extravagant, and merciless to the industrious tollers of our land. from whose earnings profits on capital are de ducted and all the revenues of the treasury taken, that I cannot presume their representa-tives in Congress would let stand any law de-velving upon the head of this department such a thriftless task.

This message was to a Congress polit ically in sympathy with Mr. Manning, and composed of men who know the laws by which the country is governed. They, b their actions, said to Secretary Manning' appeal, "That there was no necessity for any law to dispose of the bonds or surplus. because the laws in existence, made by Republicans, provided for just such a con tingency as you say has arrived. Mr. Sec retary, read your laws over again and carry them out."

The Chetsworth Rallway Accident, The telegraph reports that fires had been burning for several days along the line of the Peoria road, on which the horrible ac cident occurred, killing and maiming several hundred people, and that the timbers which support the bridge when the accident happened had all been burned away before the excursion train approached.

If this be true, no worse case of criminal negligence has ever been recorded, and every man in any way responsible should be punished with the utmost rigor of the law. In fact, the law itself is deficient in providing a punishment adequate to the enormity of the crime.

It is utterly useless to place laws upon the statute books requiring a careful super vision of railways and providing punis ments for neglect unless provision is made by which the managers of the railways can be keld accountable and punished for the failure to provide competent men, under good pay, to perform proper supervision. Not many years have passed since an ac- | children are at the Hygela, Old Point Comfort.

sident occurred on one of the leading railwegs of the country which was clearly shown to be the result of the niggarity policy of the management in failing to provide proper guards upon the line of the read, and yet no one was punished or ever

The laws in existence should be enforced rigorously, and, in the case under consider ation, to the fullest penalties, and such other laws made as will hold the chief officers of the railway responsible for accidents which happen through any failure to provide proper inspections and guards.

INTERESTING STATISTICS.

The Length, Breadth, Reight, and Weight of the Money in the Treasury. A Washington dispatch to the Philadel phia Ledger says:

A washington dispatch to the Philanelphia Ledger says:

Few persons perhaps who read the frequently published reports of the fiscal operations of the government give any consideration to the vastness and significance of the operations. We read of the hundreds of millions of gold and silver in the treasury, but how few persons have any intelligent idea of what is embraced in the nine figures required to describe the liabilities and assets of the government. It is only when the auriferous contents of the trustury vaults are weighed and measured and placed by the side of articles and commodilles that are daily handled by the masses that an intelligent comprehension can be obtained by the people of the financial strength of the treasury—the great extent of the government's fiscal operations.

I find by reference to the latest published statement of treasury assets and liabilities that among the assets was 291,293,417 in gold, and hearly $251,000,000 in silver, including 33,000,000 of trade dollars and fractional coins. Taking up these $31,000,000 of gold and placing them on the scales, I find that the gold held by the treasury weighs 519 tons, and, if pacted into ordinary carts, one ton to each cart, it would make a procession two miles long.

nto ordinary carts, one ton to each cart would make a procession two miles loss all wing 20 feet of space for the movement of each horse and cart. The weighing of of each horse and eart. The weighing of the sliver produces much more interesting results. Running this over the scales I find its weight to be 7,396 tons. Measuring it in carts, as in the case of the gold, the silver now held by the treasury would require the services of 7,396 horses and carts to transport it, and would make a procession over twenty-one miles in length. The "eurplus," about which so much it said in the daily newspapers, amounts to nearly $47,000,000, an increase of $5,003,000 since July 1. Counted as gold the surplus would weigh $65 tons; counted as silver it would weigh $55 tons. Each million of gold adds 3,885 pounds to the surplus an teach million of silver adds 58,930 pounds. Applying cubic measurements to the treascach million of silver adds 58,930 pounds. Applying cubic measurements to the treasury gold and silver, and piling the two metals on Pennsylvania avenue as cord wood is piled before delivery to the purchaser, I find that the gold would measure 37 cords and the silver 400 cords, and that both would extend from the Treasury Department to Four-and a-naif street, or from the treasury to the pension office in a straight line, and forming a solid wall eight feet high and four feet broad for a distance of seven eighths of a mile.

of seven eighths of a mile.

Extending these calculations and com Extending these calculations and comparisons to the interest-bearing debt equally interesting results are obtained. The public debt reached the highest point in August. 1865, just twenty-two years ago, when it was $2,281,530,295. The general reader will better appreciate the vestness of the sum when informed that it represents 70,150 tons of sliver, which would make a procession of carts that would extend from Richmond, Va., to a point twelve miles north of Pailadelphia, the distance it would thus cover being 266 miles. The interest-bearing debt is now, not including the Pacific rairoad bonds, $1,001,976,850, showing that the sum paid has been $1,379,553,445, or more than one-half of the total amount, and representing 40,637 tons of sliver dollars, which would extend 154 miles if packed in carts containing one ton each.

Reducing these figures to a basis where they may be intelligently comprehended and that the rapidity with which the government has reduced its bonded debt may be fully realized by the general reader, I find that the reduction has been at the average rate of $93,700,975 each year, $5,213,531 each month, $174,186 each day, $7,258 each beur, and $120,47 for every minute of the cattine 23 years. Pursuing the calculation to the smallest divisable space of time, the bonded debt of the United States has been decreased at the rate of two dollars and seven mills for every second, or for been decreased at the rate of two dollars and seven mills for every sevend, or for every swing of the pendulum, for the entire period from Aug. 31, 1885, to July 31, 1897. This is an exhibition of recuperation and material progress on the part of the country and of sterling honesty and integrity on the part of the government and people that is without parallel in the world's bistory.

This revision will not affect this year's collection, and will not go into effect until the next year. The commissioners admitted the year and the commissioners admitted that they made a mistake in increasing, by 20 cents, the amount charged sgainst voctory sixteen-foot front houses, which they did in the belief that the matter would be equalized by dimitishing the charge for each additional front foot and making every additional story, above two, bear its true relation to the whole charge.

Hair Neglected "They Area Little

This is the fact concerning a job in Handkerchiefs we have just purchased. They are seconds - with here and there such imperfections as a little hole, or a dropped stitch, or a large thread, or something or other-and they can't be offered as first-class goods, although they will wear just as well. We are going to sell them as follows:

3 FOR 250.-There are 20 styles of Fure Linen Colored Bordered Handkerchiefs in this lot-would be regular 12le and 15e goods if they were all perfect.

2 FOR 25c .- This is a lot of Pure Linen White Hemstitched Handkerchiefs, and would be regular 203 goods if they were all perfect.

150 EACH .- This is a lot of Hemstitched, Embroidered, and Drawn Thread Handkerchiefs that would be worth 25c each if they were all per-21c EAOH .- In this lot you get a variety of Pure Linen Handkerchiefs, embroidered in new designs and natterns-goods worth 29c to 40c each if they were all perfect. 39c BACH .- Is the "off" price on a lot of superior Linen Handkerchiefs-embroidered in new patterns

-that would bring from 50c to 75c if they were all perfect.

Although we call these imperfect goods, there are dozens of them in which no one could detect a single "out."

This sale begins on Saturday morning.

AUGUST

LADIES' MITTS-

You remember the 17-cent Mitts we sold earlier in the season. They are all gone. We wanted to get semething we could sell low. A jobber was in on Monday and offered us a line of 25-cent slik-lace Mitts in colors at a big sacrifice. We bought the lot. We offer these at 17 cents a pair.

NFANTS' MULL CAPS-

We make the following special reductions in Infants' and Children's Mull Caps. Each style is embroidered, and has full ruching :

75-cent caps reduced to 50c. $1.00 " " " 75c. $1.48 " " $1.00 $1.50 " " $1.00. $2.25 " " $1.50.

But we call your attention to the particular drive in this department -our 25 cent caps at 11 cents.

USLIN CHEMISES-

We will take a little space to say that a few Chemises remain from that lot on which we claimed a discount from the manufacturers. They have a solid yoke of raised torchon lace, and the neck and sleeves are trimmel with the same. They were made for $1.00 goods. We close them at 50 cents. IUSLIN SKIRTS-

A few skirts remain from the ered ruffle. They came in a $1,00 line, but we will close them out at same invoice. They are 21 yards wide, tucked, and have embroid-
